

With respect for the closing of schools, churches, theatres and other public assemblages, each Medical Officer of Health or Local Board of Health has power to close such places if it seems desirable.

Churches were restricted to one service on Sunday, apart from the early communion services in the Anglican Church, though they could remain open all day for individuals. Sunday Schools had to be completely cancelled. Restrictions were lifted as of October 19th when it was determined that churches could hold a second service. Sunday Schools had to remain closed.