

THE SUNDAY PAPER

Year C
4th SUNDAY
after EPIPHANY

As Jesus went from place to place, telling about God's Kingdom and showing God's power and love, one place he visited was Nazareth, his home town. In the synagogue there, he stood up and read part of the Book of Isaiah, telling about God's Kingdom and the Messiah!

The people of Nazareth were angry with Jesus, because he didn't act the way they wanted him to. Some of them wanted him to tell them how special they were, because the Messiah was someone from their town. Others hoped he would do a miracle and amaze them all. Others thought, "We know Jesus. He isn't anybody special!" But God's idea of what's special may be very different from our ideas.
